Teaching merits

- Teaching a course “Growth Theory and Applications” at the University of Jyväskylä since 2009 (Advanced Studies). Student feedback on the course has been excellent all the time (4.4/5 in 2022, for example). Recently, I had redesigned the course to integrate remote and in-person teaching as well as the analysis of recent top journal articles on the subject through group work. The aim has been to motivate students to critically evaluate the assumptions underlying research and the resulting policy recommendations.
